It is probably unfortunate for some in the presidential booms that they are too premature by one year.

There are bright prospects that the rush for sight-seeing will soon be turned from Europe to the Yellowstone.

The latest advice about preparing telegrams is as follows: "Write your telegram carefully, not failing to observe the notice printed at the top of the blank. This done, place it in an envelope and send it by mail."

The death of Montgomery Blair, leaves only one surviving member of the original cabinet of Mr. Lincoln—Simon Cameron, secretary of war. Mr. Blair was postmaster general, and held the office until 1864, when he began to think the war a failure, and of course he resigned his office and became a democratic, and a sympathizer with the rebels.

Secretary Babbitt, of the state agricultural society, wrote a letter to President Arthur inviting him to attend the fair held in September. The president's private secretary, under instruction, answers as follows: "In reply the president desires me to say that it would give him much pleasure to attend the fair, should his engagements permit, but he anticipates that public business will require his direct return to Washington after he has concluded his trip to the Yellowstone, for which place he starts in a few days."

Mr. M. A. Dauphin, of the Louisiana lottery, has commenced suit against Postmaster General Gresham for issuing the order forbidding the use of the mails for the purpose of carrying on the lottery scheme. The act of congress of 1876 is clear, unmistakable and mandatory, and gives no room for doubt as to what course the postmaster general should take. It says: "No letter or circular concerning lotteries, so-called gift concerts or other similar enterprises, offering prizes, shall be carried in the mails." In the face of the plain letter of the law, Mr. Dauphin claims $100,000.

The men who directed the great strike of telegraphers are John Campbell, Thomas Hughes, John S. McLellan, John Mitchell, and Frank R. Phillips. They are all young men, the oldest being only 35 and the youngest 25. In 1880 the brotherhood was organized by the special efforts of Campbell and Hughes. They are men of large executive abilities, as the striking of 15,000 men in every state and territory in the union, at precisely ten minutes past twelve on Thursday, July 19, fully shows. Phillips, the youngest of the quintet gave the signal to strike, and no command was ever before obeyed with such marvelous promptness. Mr. Mitchell is one of the fastest senders in the world, and for many years was at the New York end of the cable.

The following from the Evening Wisconsin shows that some of the business men of Milwaukee are practical philanthropists as well as successful business men: "The Wisconsin has pleasure in recording the fact that E. P. Allis & Co., are not alone in Milwaukee in the commendable scheme of co-operating with their workmen to maintain a benefit fund for the use of the sick and the bereaved. The employes of the dry goods house of Rich & Silber, have an organized and successful mutual benefit society, and like those of Allis & Co., are given much tangible help by their employers. The arrangement is good in all its features, and is invaluable for the influence it exerts in establishing oneness of interest and mutually allying employers and employes. It is a hopeful sign that this plan of mutual aid is approved and is being adopted in Milwaukee's business establishments."

Mr. Sedgwick, the Elkhorn minister who left the pulpit to manipulate the telegraph keys in the interest of Jay Gould's monopoly, is receiving a good deal of advertising in all parts of the state. He is not a modest or a diffident man, and therefore he seems to enjoy the little notoriety he has gained. The service of Jay Gould pays $100 a month at a time like this, while the service of the Lord brought Sedgwick only $60 a month, and desiring to be the servant of the one which would pass the highest salary, he joined the forces of him who commands the Western Union with the power that Jove commanded the thunderbolts. It was hoped that Mr. Sedgwick, after learning the weight of public sentiment on the question, would, for the church's sake, quit the keys, and quietly and gentlemanly return to the pulpit. Probably he doesn't properly belong there, but that makes no difference. Everybody, especially a man who is more or less of a public character, should have some regard for public sentiment.

As want more severely pinches some of the operators who have families to support, they are more inclined to return to work, and many of them have abandoned the brotherhood and have taken their keys again. There are virtually no signs of a settlement, and the Western Union officials say that they will never surrender to the brotherhood. The company is gradually improving its service, and in many cities the work goes on as if there was no strike at all, while in others, the service is quite demoralized. On the whole there is an improvement each day by the surrender of those who cannot afford to lie idle. It is the impression that the bluff game which each party is trying to play, will fail, and that in the end there will be a compromise of some kind. The company cannot get along very well without the service of experienced operators, and the operators cannot afford to throw away their time. Under these circumstances it seems that a compromise must be the result in a short time.

ANOTHER BREAK.

Four Desertions from the Brotherhood at Chicago.

But the "Boys" Claim Seventeen Desertions from the Company as an Offset.

New York Brokers Moving for a New Line---The Co-Operative Scheme ---The American Rapid---Baltimore & Ohio.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The telegraphers' strike continues to drag wearily along, without signs of a settlement of any kind as far as the leading company is concerned, and the Western Union and the strikers made heard grimaces at one another, but the situation with the Baltimore & Ohio is a little different. While a compromise may be expected at any hour, it is also possible that the company and men will still be apart at the end of a fortnight from the beginning of the strike. As it is, the proceedings at present are very monotonous. At the Western Union office the officials have daily the same report to make of increased efficiency in the service and a prospect that "in a few days" the delay notices will be taken down and messages accepted unconditionally. The office has been systematized and a great improvement made since the day or two immediately following the strike, and the superintendents announce that they have all the new operators they can utilize at present. Nevertheless, no pains are taken to conceal the fact that a goodly number of old and experienced operators would be received with open arms if they chose to renounce the brotherhood.

Across the river on North Clark street, half a mile away from the Western Union office, the striking telegraphers meet daily, and the situation as it appears there presents a much different aspect from the view taken by the representatives of the telegraph companies. Of the five hundred operators and linemen who went out, so far but four have returned to the service of the telegraph companies. The strikers comment freely on the statements of the Western Union officials regarding the business transacted, and their criticisms generally show an intimate knowledge of the condition of affairs in the company's office. Next to retailing stories of the blunders made by the new employes or plugs, the strikers delight most in pointing out the beneficial effect the strike has already had in raising the wages of telegraphy and improving the lot of employes. The prices alleged to be offered to good operators are quoted as evidence of the increase in compensation, while the carriages and the lunch that is provided by the company for its employes is pointed to as proof of a quickened conscience in the treatment of operators. The lunch, especially, is a sore point with the old-timers, who bristle with sarcastic allusions to the times when "coffee and pie" was the most an operator working overtime could hope for.

Unless appearances are deceptive, the organization is as compact and harmonious, with the exception of the defection noted above, as on the day of the strike. What excites the most derision among them is the promise of President Eckert that the "subject-to-delay" condition is soon to be removed. The strikers express a yearning desire for the public to watch the notices in question, and they profess to believe that the day for this action on the part of the company will keep fading away in the distance as time goes by.

LATER DEVELOPMENTS.

The strike took a new turn at a late hour in the night, and the interest, which has been drooping, was suddenly and sharply revived. It is liable to continue for some days yet, and the new phase of the contest is such that it will probably enable the public to measure very accurately just what the strength of the contestants is. The Western Union has secured four deserters from the ranks of the strikers, while the latter claim to have taken a much larger number directly out of the company's operating-rooms.

A report was circulated in the evening that several of the striking operators had returned to the bosom of the Western Union and were then at work in the operating-room. The meeting of the brotherhood at Uhlich's hall was an exciting one, and vigorous action was taken to meet the emergency. It was announced that "traitors had been spotted," and this was followed by the expulsion of Brothers Reynolds, Harris and Dore. These telegraphers, it was stated, had been associated with Kinneman, who was expelled, on the evidence of several members of the brotherhood that he had sought to bribe them to return to the employ of the Western Union. By the hour of the evening meeting their erring companions' position had been discovered. As a recompense for their loss the strikers claimed that they had executed a brilliant flank movement on the Western Union, and during the day had got twenty-one operators from the employ of the company. As soon as the fact of the desertions became known, the pickets, in the neighborhood of the enemy's stronghold were trebled, and every individual entering or leaving the building was closely watched. Night Manager, Springer, to a question as to whether a record of those working for the company was kept which would determine whether any were missing, replied that it could be easily determined. Another Western Union official stated positively and unequivocally, on behalf of the company, that if the strikers claimed to have taken any operators from the company they lied. Up till midnight, he said, not one operator had gone over to the strikers, and that statement the company was prepared to prove. From other Western Union officials other important developments were promised before Monday, but they did not want this fact to be made public.

While the strikers were greatly excited over the developments, they professed to be more than satisfied at the course of events, and claimed that their ability to take men from the employ of the company in the future would be demonstrated. The suggestion that the break in the ranks would be followed by other desertions was freely resented. "I understand," said a striker, "one of the fellows who went back on us played the baby act and said it was on account of his family. Bah! Every operator with a family is allowed by the brotherhood the same amount he was receiving from the company. But you'll never catch us paying a man to be true to his pledge. We've had to shadow these fellows, and now we are rid of them."

"You claim to have taken twenty-one men from the Western Union. Are you ready to furnish their names?"

"Yes, we'll furnish them, but not now for prudential reasons."

"Does it? Well, here are the names of six men who left the Western Union office and have not returned. Nor will they. That's enough now to show whether our claims are good. Now let Supt. Clowry or whoever is authorized to speak say whether Operators Thompson, Lacoath, Graham, Frich, Turner, and Gribben did not work for the company though one night. Let him say whether they have returned to the service of the Western Union company."

The tenor of the reports at the telegraph offices and at the strikers' headquarters diverged as widely as usual. The Western Union officials reiterated the assertions that any surrender to the brotherhood would never be made, and claimed that any combination between the American Rapid and the Baltimore & Ohio would in no way influence them.

The strikers had reports from Toledo, O.; Oswego, N. Y.; Cleveland, O.; Washington City; Charleston, S. C.; Hartford, Conn.; Boston, Mass.; Toronto, Canada; Pittsburg, Pa.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Cincinnati, and other points, which were highly encouraging, and listened to addresses at their night meeting from several gentlemen, among whom was Prof. Barrett, city electrician, expressing sympathy with them and wishing them success, and tendering more substantial aid.

ON CHANGE.

"The telegraph service is poorer," said Cyrus Adams, "than ever, except the day which immediately followed the strike. Here is a message dated Montreal, which was filed twelve hours before it was received. Two messages filed at New York in the morning before the opening of 'change were not received by me until after the close of 'change here in the afternoon. The service is such that the board of trade firms are losing their business, and the loss is likely in many instances to prove permanent." Robert Lindblom, when asked how the companies were doing for him, answered that his business was suffering and that he was totally cut off from his country customers. There were in all in the offices on 'change forty-four operators, receivers and clerks, one more than were on hand Thursday, but two less than on Wednesday.

AT NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, July 28.—A large meeting of the produce exchange was held in the lower room of the exchange in the afternoon to consider the condition of affairs resulting from the misunderstanding between the telegraph companies and their employes, and to devise some method by which the present serious injury to business may be overcome. As soon as the minutes had been read W. W. Merrill moved to adjourn. This motion was greeted with hisses and declared out of order. Mr. Theodore Perry offered a series of resolutions. They reviewed the inconvenience the members of the exchange had been put to by the Gold and Stock Telegraph company's violation of its contract with the exchange, called on the board of managers to give the required sixty days' notice of termination of that contract, and provided for the appointment of a committee of review to inquire into the feasibility of building a new line of telegraph by the exchanges of the principal cities acting in cooperation.

A resolution was passed providing for the appointment of a committee of seven to consider the feasibility of building in co-operation with other exchanges a line for their own use, members of exchanges to subscribe to the stock thereof. It was stated that Wall street had lost $1,000,000 by the strike already. Henry Clews said the transactions had fallen off 50 per cent. all over the country, and David Dow confirmed the opinion; also others.

The executive committee of the brotherhood said the results of their first day's work for the establishment of the Merchants' and Telegraphers' Telegraph company had encouraged them, and that they believed the project would succeed. They had received $3,200 subscriptions at the Manhattan hotel and also many letters making inquiries. A letter received from Mr. Allen C. Reid, of the firm of John D. Cutter & Co., said subscriptions are coming in by dozens from telegraphists, clerks, and the largest merchants and manufacturers. We will own a line to Chicago in ten days. The committee said that as soon as $2,000,000 was subscribed the work of erecting the wires would be begun, and the first line run to Chicago. Each subscriber was to vote for directors of the new company, and the twenty-one receiving the highest number of votes were to form the board of directors, of whom seven must be practical telegrapers.

The following letter was received by John D. Cutter from F. B. Thurber, "Count me in on the co-operative telegraph scheme, and if you will send us signature blanks will endeavor to get as many of our neighboring merchants to sign as possible. The city ought to be districted and canvassed by striking operators here and in other places."

THE AMERICAN RAPID.

The American Rapid Telegraph company was unquestionably crowded with work. One hundred and sixty-one men sat at the desks in the operating-room busy with the telegrams and the keys. A larger force will be put at work immediately. The company has increased its rates to the schedule of prices charged by the Western Union company. Nevertheless, the business, according to Mr. Sherman, has increased 100 per cent. within the last twenty-four hours. It was widely reported that the American Rapid was standing by its old agreement with the Baltimore & Ohio. By this agreement the American Rapid is bound to deliver all matter sent by the Baltimore & Ohio over their wires at the office of the American Rapid. Nothing could be learned of this matter. The officials would not go into any details concerning the private business of the company.

A CHANGE OF FRONT.

The Sun Says: A curious feature of Gould's attitude in this strike is that some time ago he tried to demonstrate to Bennet and Garret the impracticability of organizing a new telegraph system on account of the scarcity of competent operators. Now he maintains that there are more operators on hand than could possibly be employed, and comes forward as the great champion of women's work. It is evident that either he told fibs then or he is telling fibs now.

THE BALTIMORE & OHIO.

At the headquarters of the striking operators, it was said that negotiations now pending between the brotherhood and the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph company at Baltimore would be concluded. At the Baltimore & Ohio office, in this city, it was said that no intimation of a change of the policy which had been pursued since the strike had been given by any of the officers of the company.

BALTIMORE, July 28.—The attention of the officers of the Baltimore & Ohio company being called to a dispatch sent from New York relative to negotiations said to be pending between the brotherhood and the Baltimore & Ohio company at Baltimore, the following authorized statement was made: "It is authoritatively stated by the executive officers of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph company this that rumors regarding a compromise by the company with the brotherhood of telegraph operators are absolutely untrue and without any foundation whatever, and that no conferences are pending with that view, or any other, and none is contemplated."

NATIONAL EDUCATION.

The Importance of National Aid in the South.

To the editor.

Permit me to offer some suggestions upon the importance of education to our country at large, and the necessity of national aid to this cause in order to the welfare of our government:

It has been truly said that "knowledge is power." That an enlightened and virtuous people can never be enslaved. When, however, a large proportion of the people are left in ignorance, there is great danger that the power of governing may fall into the hands of the few. That we shall have class legislation and that the rights and liberties of the people generally, will be encroached upon, if not entirely overthrown. In a Republic like ours, where all—the intelligent and ignorant—have alike a voice in the law making department of the government, it becomes the more necessary that knowledge and virtue shall generally be disseminated. History, which is said to be the philosophy of experience, teaches us the importance of education, as also the right kind of education in order to the stability of good government and the prosperity and happiness of the people.

We have in this country a bureau of education, which has had an existence of some fourteen years. By reference to the report of its chief officer, the commissioner of education for the year 1880, we learn that there is a great amount of illiteracy among our people, and especially among the foreign population, which is now coming to our shores, at the rate of over half a million annually.

Taking in the whole of our country, there are among its inhabitants, over ten years of age, one-seventh portion who can neither read nor write. Perhaps, I ought, however, to state that in several of the New England and western states and in our territories there are among our native population only a little over one per cent who can not read and write, showing, I believe, a smaller percentage of illiteracy than among any other people of the globe.

As the greater danger to our country arises from the illiteracy existing in the old slave states, it is the people there, that I wish more especially to call your attention.

In six of these states, one half of the voters cannot read their ballots. In South Carolina, fifty-two per cent. of the voters cannot read or write. The average per cent. of voters, in the entire south, who cannot read or write, is thirty-three and three-tenths per cent. Of the colored people, of the south about seventy per cent. cannot read or write. The so called poor whites or the south are but little, if any, in advance of the colored population, and as a class they manifest less ambition to acquire knowledge, and educate their ceildren. It will be readily seen by the intelligent observer, that such an amount of ignorance among the people of that section of our country, must prove detrimental, and even dangerous to the welfare of our republican institutions Our government, realizing the importance of education in order to its welfare has from its earliest history, made large grants of land to the territories for the establishment and support of common schools; as also liberal donations toward the endowment of universities and agricultural colleges.

More recently, the congress of the United States, seeing the great illiteracy existing throughout our country, and especially in the late rebellious states, and realizing the danger which must arise therefrom, has been giving considerable attention to this subject, and endeavored to mitigate the evil. Hence, several bills have been introduced in congress, proposing government aid to the cause of education in the states. None of these bills have, as yet, become a law. The main reason for refusing to pass any one of the measures, has been, that the representatives from the south, being so much imbued with the doctrine of state rights, have generally opposed any direct system of education by the general government. They willingly consent that congress shall make donations for education, directly to the states, leaving them the sole custodians of the trust thus created. But a majority, of our congress believing that if the funds, should be placed entirely under the control of the states they, would either, be misapplied, or squandered, have insisted upon their direct management by the gouernment. Hence, the disagreement, which has arisen, and the consequent failure of any one of the proposed measures to become a law. It is to be hoped, that as our country grows older, the people will become wiser and that all sections may unite in measures, for the more general education of the rising generation. Much better appropriate our public lands for this object, than give them to railroad corporations. For however reasonable the arguments once might have been in favor of granting lands, for the construction of railroads, through the new and unsettled portions of our country, the reason for continuing such grants no longer exists. Some of our patriotic and philanthropic citizens, since the late war, have been making liberal donations towards endowing colleges in the south, and also for the support of normal and common schools. Hence we have the Peabody fund, under the control of a board of trustees, from which over one million dollars have been appropriated toward the cause of education during the last twelve years. Then, more recently there has been given, for the same object, the Slater fund, of about one million dollars, which is to be expended under the supervision of a board of directors, of which ex-President Hayes is one of the number. Wm. H. Vanderbilt, and Mrs. Valina G. Stone, together with several other of our citizens, realizing the importance of education to the welfare of the nation, have also made munificent contributions to the cause of education in the south within the last few years.

Our government has unquestionably the right of self preservation. It was from a conviction of this right that we waged a war upon the seceding states, and put down the rebellion. If, then, our government had the right to order the people to arms at the expense of the nation for the preservation of the union, most certainly it has authority to appropriate money from its treasury for the education of its citizens, if, in its opinion, this is necessary for its welfare.

During the last session of congress, the committee to whom was referred the several bills proposing donating of money for the cause of education, invited some of the best educators of our country, including several from the southern states, to meet them at our national capitol, and confer upon this subject; and it was their unanimous opinion that, in the present financial condition of the southern states, it would be impossible for them, without national aid, to carry on such a system of education as the welfare of the country demands.

It would seem, then, that our security in the future, must depend very largely upon the advance of popular education; which, besides giving the people a better knowledge of the wants of our government, will to a great degree disarm them of prejudice and raise them above the control of local and partisan strife.

Some twenty years ago the people of the south rebelled against the best government the world has ever known. Civil war and strife for years reigned throughout the land. It is not unreasonable to suppose, that had the masses of the people, in the slave states been as generally educated as in the free, they could not have been incited to rebellion, by appeals to their passions and prejudices. To put down this great rebellion, cost us much of the precious blood of the nation. Our Rachels ever since have been weeping for their children, and would not be comforted because they are not. A half million brave brothers," sons and fathers fell upon the field of strife, or perished in hospitals and southern prisons. A heavy financial burden, too, was laid upon the people, which, though growing lighter year by year, will continue to exist, at least for a generation to come.

Would we avert such a calamity in the future? let us be ever vigilant in the dissemination of virtue and intelligence, and encourage by our best efforts, the education of the rising generations. Then, may we hope, that the sun of liberty which now illuminates our pathway, shall shine with even greater effulgence, and its many blessings be perpetuated to generations yet unborn.

Thus, too, shall our country fulfil its great mission; not only by protecting and elevating in the scale of virtue and intelligence, its own citizens, but in leading the people of all countries and all climes, in the way of civil and religious liberty.

We believe that there is a large class of patent medicines whose ingredients are skillfully and conscientiously selected and compounded, and that they have been very useful in the domestic treatment of disease. We must come to this conclusion in precisely the same way that we come to the conclusion that a man is a skillful physician—by what they accomplish, and by the testimony of those who have used them. The reputation of a patent medicine is sustained by

THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, JULY 28.

THE HOADLY SCANDAL.

"Jayhawker," of the Cincinnati Enquirer, Tells What He Knows ---Iowa Anti-Prohibitionists.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 28.—The Chicago Times correspondent sends the following to his paper: The political specials from Ohio contain considerable matter as to the cost of Judge Hoadly's nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket at the Columbus convention, which has been given out by Gov. Foster. Mr. J. H. Woodward, of The Cincinnati Enquirer, who is given as Gov. Foster's authority for the statement that Judge Hoadly's nomination cost him $50,000, was in this city today, interviewing politicians in regard to politics. The Times correspondent has conversed with him relative to the charge against Judge Hoadly. Mr. Woodward, after consulting his note-book, said: "I did not tell Gov. Foster that Judge Hoadly told me that he had spent $50,000 or any other sum at the Cincinnati convention, but I did tell him that I understood from Judge Hoadly that his nomination cost him $50,000. This could have been spent working up county conventions previous to the state convention. But Judge Hoadly did tell me that McLean, of The Enquirer was reported to him to have bought Hoadly delegates at $500 each and that he had to defend himself in buying them back. He made that a ground of complaint against McLean, and said that his only satisfaction was that it had cost McLean a great deal of money. I have written to Gov. Foster in regard to the matter, and made substantially this statement: What I did say to you was under the seal of confidence, and I am sorry you have made any allusion to a subject of which I, as a personal friend to Judge Hoadly, spoke to you. I believed the judge was being robbed, and would continue to be robbed during the campaign, and the reason I gave you for that opinion was that on the evening of July 2 I called at the office of Judge Hoadly, in Cincinnati, and had a half-hour's talk with him, and informed him that I was then starting on a trip over the state to gather Democratic opinion on his candidacy. He spoke at once with regret that The Enquirer seemed to be opposing him, and then went on to say that the evening before he was nominated he had seen Mr. McLean, of The Enquirer, who had promised that he would not further oppose him; that McLean has continued the opposition, and the judge said: 'The only ground of complaint which I have is that McLean made my nomination cost me too much money; but I have the satisfaction of knowing that he wasted his own money.' I then said: "I have heard that it cost you $50,000." "Well," said the judge, 'that is too much for anyone to spend for the office, to say nothing of the nomination." The judge then went on to say that after his conversation with Mr. McLean he went to bed satisfied, but that at 6 o'clock the next morning word was brought him that McLean spent the whole night with the delegation, and had captured the convention by paying as high as $500 for votes, and that the friends who brought him this word told him that he must defend himself. When I stated the reported amount paid for his nomination he did not say that it was correct, leaving the impression on my mind that this was the sum.' The conclusion of my letter to Gov. Foster, which is send from here, in addition to what I have given you, is as follows: "I am sorry that you have in any way alluded to this matter, because I think the judge did not want any publicity given. In fact, he said, "None of this talk is to be printed," and I know he did not want the public to know that the thing had been so expensive. To make it public was painful to him, and had I known that, after two campaigns of your own, I would have had so little sympathy for a fellow-soldier, I would not have told you anything about it. I expected a better feeling from you toward my friend; but, instead of giving him your sympathy, you gave the whole thing away to the public. This is not fair to the judge or to me. If you can not be trusted with an occasional Democratic secret, I will not tell you any more of them."

IOWA ANTI-PROHIBITIONISTS.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The Times has the following special from Waterloo, Iowa: A meeting of Anti-Prohibition Republicans of the Third congressional district has been held in this city at the office of Hon. Mr. Bois. The attendance was small, but each county in this district except Dubuque was represented, and two gentlemen were present from Benton county, in the Fifth district. The deliberation of the meeting was secret, but The Times correspondent has ascertained that after consultation it was determined to appoint a committee to draft a statement of the position occupied by the Anti-Prohibition Republicans, to be circulated in each county in the district for signatures. This statement or platform has been prepared, and is in substance as follows:

As Republicans we can not indorse the action of the party on the subject of prohibition as defined in the third plank of the platform adopted at Des Moines. We believe such position fraught with the greatest danger to the business and moral interests of the state. Laws enacted in the line of such policy will retard emigration, driving away a class of people who believe such laws intolerant and proscriptive. They will practically destroy property to the value of many millions of dollars; they will prove an unwarranted attempt to regulate by law the social habits of large classes of citizens, and will substitute legal coercion for the moral forces on which the cause of true temperance must rely. We denounce the spirit of fanaticism, which in convention struck down an able, conscientious judge for the faithful discharge of his duty, and we call upon all men to aid us in affixing to that act the stigma it so justly deserves, to the end that it may never be followed as a precedent in this state. We denounce the policy which seeks to narrow the question of prohibition to one of the home against the saloon, and which arraigns all opponents of such policy as allies of the saloon against the home. We deny the wisdom of any legislation upon the subject of temperance, which in its practical workings makes no distinction between the few who are slaves of strong drink, and therefore proper subjects of legislative care, and the many for whose protection from that vice no legal enactments are necessary.

Recognizing our obligations to the commonwealth as paramount to party fealty, we pledge ourselves by all honorable means to bring about a fuller apprehension of the state to the traffic in intoxicating liquors, leaving the choice of means to the mature determination of individual judgment. We state our determination to do our utmost to defeat the sweeping policy of constitutional and statutory prohibition to which our party has been unwisely pledged, co-operation of all prohibition republicans, and recommend organization in every county."

The straight-out republicans claim to have no fear of the result of this movement, and say they are going to make a strong fight with the certainty of winning both on the state and legislative tickets.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

Further Particulars of the Ward Crash at Niles, Ohio--The Failure Record.

CLEVELAND, O., July 28.—The failure of the Ward Iron company, of Niles, and the assignment of J. M. Stull and R. W. Ratcliff, of Warren, still continue to be the topic of conversation through the Mahoning valley, and the action of James Ward, who failed in 1873 for nearly $2,000,000 and paid 2½ cents on the dollar, is severely commented upon. A press correspondent in talking with all classes at Niles found that nearly every one was affected by the failure, some having invested their all with Ward and found, when too late, that he had proved an unfaithful steward. Many had nearly forgotten sufferings they endured through his failure in 1875, and now were compelled to again suffer beggary by reason of mismanagement of business. A credible gentlemen was found who, when asked what would be left for creditors, replied nothing. Sundry parties living near Ward state that moving teams were employed removing his household goods from his residence, the last thing taken away being a piano which, was moved after daylight. Persons who saw the moving thought but little of it at the time until the events of yesterday transpired. Where the goods were taken is not known. As soon as the assignment of the Ward Iron company was known, diligent search was made by the creditors, who desired to personally interview Ward, but the most vigilant search failed to disclose where he was. A call was made at the office of the Ward Iron company, but only the clerks were present. When asked if the liabilities would exceed $500,000, the answer was made that no statement had yet been made, but it was estimated they would exceed that figure. As to the assets, they are nominal and will realize under a forced sale little above costs and expenses of conducting the assignment. A manufacturer conversant with the affairs of the concern said that it was doubtful if it paid 1 cent on the dollar, thus being a virtual loss to all creditors. When Ward failed in 1873 the total liabilities were nearly $1,700,000. Since then the assignees have paid one dividend of 2½ per cent., and now have about $20,000 on hand, from which is to be deducted the costs and expenses for two weeks. The assignees have had a gentleman employed endeavoring to figure out a sufficient amount from the assets to pay a dividend of 1 per cent. The failure then and its results, with the last one, have caused a most bitter feeling against Ward, which is being intensified every hour as further facts are developed. Creditors have commenced crowding Daizel & Co., and, considering the condition of affairs, they closed their doors and made an assignment. The firm holds $1,600 of the Ward Iron company's paper and $16,000 of L. B. Ward's. Several coal operators and one or two firms at Mineral Ridge are greatly embarrassed. One coal operator holds Ward's paper for $2,000. The Canfield bank is understood to hold Ward's paper to a considerable amount, but it is generally supposed here that they were solid and would pull through. L. B. Ward's Russia iron-mills shut down for want of stock, the railroad companies refusing to deliver them coal or iron. He was forced to make an assignment, Ratcliff & Stull being the assignees. L. B. Ward's mill and the Ward Iron company's works were all under the management of James Ward. L. B. Ward's sheet-mill made from $50,000 to $75,000 last year, and nearly the entire amount was sunk in keeping the Ward Iron company's mill running.

RECORD OF FAILURES.

NEW YORK, July 28.—There were 168 failures in the United States reported to Bradstreet's during the last week, 6 more than the preceding week, 46 more than the corresponding week of 1882, and 90 more than the same week of 1881. Compared with the previous week the middle states had 36, a decrease of 4; New England states 33, an increase of 1; southern states 26, an increase of 1; western states 40, a decrease of 3; Pacific states and territories 33, an increase of 1; Canada and the provinces 33, an increase of 6. SPORTING INTELIGENCE.

Pullman Regatta--The Turf Record--Base Ball.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The morning of the first day a Pullman regatta was ushered in by rain which did not stoop till noon. There was a small crowd in consequence. The junior double-scull was won by the Delawares in 13:55¾, Davenports, Delawares and Modocs crossing the line in the order named. The Burlington's won the junior pair oars in 15:24: Sylvans second, Farraguts third. The junior single sculls was won by Metzger, of St. Louis in 15:26. The junior four-oared shells was won by the Minnesota club in 13:14¾.

THE TURF.

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 28.—Princess won the ¾ mile for three-year-olds in 1:17¾. Post Guard won the 1¼ miles in 2:11¾. Navarro won the mile in 1:43¾. Guy won the 1½ miles hurdle in 2:49¾.

BRIGHTON BEACH, N. Y., July 28.—Nimblefoot won the ¾ mile in 1:16¾. Medusa won the next ¾ mile in 1:17¾. Rushaway won the mile in 1:44¾. Mattie Rapture won the 1⅛ miles selling in 1:59. The mile race was won by Glenullen in 1:46.

PITTSBURG, July 28.—Duquesne, a 5-year-old was put on the track first to trot against his own time of 2:21, made at Kalamazoo, Mich., and got over the mile in 2:17¾. The first regular race was won by Phallus in best time 2:20¾; second race won by Folax, best time 2:25¾; the third race was won by Buffalo Girl, best time 2:18¾.

BASE BALL.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Base ball playing: Metropolitan and Athletic, postponed. Cleveland and Providence postponed after two innings. Detroit 2, New York 3. Other games: Baltimore 21, Allegheny 8; Minneapolis 13, Philadelphia 17.

PIGEON SHOOTING.

The team shoot was won by the Elkhart shooting club; second prize divided between the Chicago, Indianapolis and Sportsmen's (Chicago) clubs.

The repudiation by Mexico of debts due to Spanish subjects is said to have brought about the recall of the Spanish minister, and serious commercial trouble is expected to result.

The secret of the universal success of Brown's Iron Bitters is owing to the fact that it is the very best iron peparation made. By a thorough and rapid assimilation with the blood it reaches every part of the body, giving health, strength and edurance to every portion. Thus beginning at the foundation it builds up and restores lost health. It does not contain whisky or alcohol. It will not blacken the teeth. It does not constipate or cause headache. It will cure dyspepsia, indigestion, heartburn, sleeplessness, nervous debility, weakness, etc.

Mr. E. S. King, druggist, at Merrill, Wis., says: "My customers speak very highly of Brown's Iron Bitters and I sell a good many."

Mr. J. F. Drinker, druggist, at Merrill, Wis., says: "I sell more of Brown's Iron skin eruptions, guaranteed to cure in every instance, or money returned. 25 cents per box. For sale by F. Sherer Co.

WATTERSON ON HENDRICKS.

He Says that Hendricks Cannot be Hostile to McDonald's Presidential Interests.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 28.—The Courier-Journal in an editorial on Hendricks and McDonald after mentioning the alleged hostility between the two gentlemen and criticising the conduct of Hendricks after his nomination for vice-president in 1876 and charging him with subsequent disloyalty to Tilden, says that Hendricks could not under any circumstances be adverse to the presidential interests of McDonald, goes on to give the following inside history of the St. Louis convention which nominated Tilden and Hendricks:

If there had been any chance for the nomination of Mr. Hendricks to the first place on the ticket named by the St. Louis convention of 1876, Mr. McDonald's zeal, energy and tact would have got the place for him. There was in reality not the smallest chance. Mr. Hendricks was the unanimous choice of the convention for the second place. For the first he had no strength. The warm pleadings, the adroit arguments, the big persistent and brainy personality of Mr. McDonald were all in vain. The convention at heart admired the advocate even more than his client. Tilden out of the way, McDonald would himself have probably been the nominee for president in 1876. But, if at St. Louis he shone brilliantly as an attorney, at Cincinnati he shone gloriously as a man. There was a moment at Cincinnati when McDonald's name would have gone through the convention like wild-fire. Assurances of the most authoritative and powerful character came to him. He put them aside as placidly, yet as simply and as courteously disdainful, as a noble and dignified woman might put aside an assault upon her honor. To an eminent and influential Democrat, himself a presidential possibility, who came to plead with him, he said: "It is not worth while multiplying words about it. There is but one man in the world who can force me on to the national ticket, and that man is Thomas A. Hendricks." To another Democrat, who went to him with the solid vote of six southern states, he said: "I came here as Mr. Hendricks' representative. Until Mr. Hendricks, of his own motion, tells me he is off, you can not nominate me. The presidency itself would not compensate me for the suspicion of treason to my friend." There was no moving him. He was as inflexible as if he were the custodian of trust funds instead of political interests.

All these facts are known to Mr. Hendricks. They are known to the country. Such of them as relate to personal intercourse alone are known to a dozen responsible and leading Democrats. In view of them are we not justified in denouncing the idea that Mr. Hendricks, being withdrawn from the field of possible conjecture, could be hostile to his loyal old neighbor, friend and proxy, as a base slander upon a man who, whatever his errors and follies, has never, even to the most malignant of his enemies, exposed himself to the charge of being the vilest of ingrates?

DRIVEN WELLS.

Farmers in Central Ohio Still Fighting the Ten Dollar Royalty---An Opinion on the Cause.

XENIA, O., July 28.—There has been some excitement among farmers of this and adjoining counties in regard to a royalty of $10 which has been demanded of them recently on account of their use of a certain tube in the ground called a "driven well." A number of farmers had this kind of a well driven on their premises some years ago, but within a month or two agents have notified them all that this method of getting water from the ground is an infringement of the patent obtained by Nelson Green in 1866. Some farmers are inclined to pay the royalty demanded, while others are disposed to allow the matter to be settled by the courts. There are several hundreds of these wells in Greene, Clark, Montgomery, Shelby, Miami and other adjoining counties. Judge William Lawrence, controller of the treasury, in writing to a friend in this city, says:

"If your citizens have infringed upon Green's patent, they have doubtless done so under some other patent. There are, as I understand, quite a number of patents, and I have no idea that there can be any infringement unless your people have used some peculiar form of tubing which was patented by Nelson Green. Certainly there can be no patent for a hole in the ground, or for an iron tube. A hollow iron tube is as old as the flood, and it is impossible that there can be a patent on that. The only thing patentable would be some peculiar form of the lower part of the tube, and it is very doubtful, as I suppose, whether Mr. Green has any patent that will amount to anything. I tried a patent case in Cleveland, some years ago, involving the validity of patent siding for houses. The patent had been sold a thousand times, and the judge during the trial took up a specimen of the siding and said: 'This is not patentable; anybody could make it.' I think it altogether likely that if your people would combine to resist the demand of Mr. Green he would retire, not upon a compromise. Rest assured, anything I can do for you or your people I will do very cheerfully, and you may command me at any and all times.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM LAWRENCE

NEARLY WRECKED.

How a Rascal's Little Game Was Beaten.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 28.—The scheme of a young married man living in the suburban village of Woodberry to wreck the life of an attractive girl residing at Cambridge, Md., was defeated by the shrewdness of a married sister of the contemplated victim. The principals in this scandalous affair are Lee Hill and Miss Davis, the daughter of a well-known citizen of Cambridge. Hill, who was married a couple of years ago to a young lady at Woodberry, has for some months been employed at Cambridge, and while there made the acquaintance of Miss Davis. Friendship ripened into love, and the couple became devotedly attached and were engaged to be married. The wedding night was fixed. A married sister of the bride-elect heard a rumor that Hill was married and visited Woodberry, where she had an interview with the wife, who is in a very delicate condition. Upon returning to the city she telegraphed to Cambridge and prevented the wedding from being solemnized. The affair has caused a decided sensation both at Woodberry and Cambridge.

The Crops.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The Tribune has specials which state that the news from along the railways of the northwest is very encouraging as to the crop prospects. The recent storms in Dakota were confined in their destructive results to a few localities, and the prospects are good in the Red River valley. In eastern Iowa such bountiful crops have not been seen for years.

Mrs. F. A. Seager, of Cleveland, once a popular teacher in the public schools, was killed while passing under a railroad car at the foot of Hanover street. Her leg was completely severed at the hip, and rolled into the river through a hole in the dock.

Chronic Diseases.

A Special Study for Years.

Dr. F. B. BREWER,

Has made Chronic Diseases of the

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. Brewer claims to work no wonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years' of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to call, investigate and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing to do so. Address all letters to F. B. BREWER, M. D., Lock Box 350, Chicago, Ill

Dr. F. B. Brewer will be at Janesville, Myers house, Saturday and Sunday the 1st and 2d of September.

DR. FISHBLATT

OF THE

Medical and Surgical

INSTITUTE

Late Lecturer and Professor in one of the leading medical colleges in the United States, editor of the New York Medical and Surgical Journal, consulting physician and operative surgeon in the New York Hospital for Chronic Diseases. Physician in Chief of the Medical and Surgical Institute of Cedar Rapids.

ON ACCOUNT OF HIS

Immense Practice

IN

WILL MAKE HIS NEXT VISIT AT THE

MYERS HOUSE

Wednesday, August 29th.

And Remain Two Days

When he can be consulted on

Deformities, Spinal and Chronic Diseases.

Dr. Fishblatt

Has discovered the greatest cure in the world for weakness of the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, paleness of sight or giddiness, diseases of the throat, nose or skin, affections of the liver, lungs stomach, or bowels,—those terrible disorders arising from solitary practice more fatal to their victims than the songs of the sirens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible.

YOUNG MEN.

Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, who might, if otherwise, entrance listening senates with the thunder of their eloquence, or wake to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

Marriage.

Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness (loss of procreation power, impotency,) nervous debility or any other disqualifications speedily relieved. He who places himself under the care of Dr. Fishblatt may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

Organic WEAKNESS.

Immediately cured and full vigor restored. This affliction—which renders life a burden and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victim of improper indulgence. Young persons are apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands this subject will deny that procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both mind and body arise. The system becomes deranged, the physical and mental functions weakened, loss of procreative power, nervous irritability, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, constitutional debility, wasting of the frame, cough, consumption and death

A Cure Warranted.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders who keep them trifling month after month, taking poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately.

Dr. Fishblatt

Graduated at one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at certain sounds, with frequent blushing attended somewhat with derangement of the mind, were cured immediately.

Particular Notice.

Dr. F. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruins both mind and body, unfitting them for business, study, society, marriage. These are some of the sad, melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, namely: Weakness in the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of sight, loss of musical power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, derangement of the digestive functions, debility consumption, etc.

—"Ma, what is a grass widow?" asked a Harlem youth, who had been reading in the papers about a person of that description. "Why, my boy, I can't explain it exactly," replied the mother. "I'll bet I know, anyhow," said the smart youngster. "Well, tell me." A grass widow is a female woman whose husband died of hay fever," he exclaimed. Then he went out in the kitchen and rubbed the cat's nose with red pepper.—Harlem Times.

The Value of Alligators.

Six thousand baby alligators are sold in Florida every year, and the amount of ivory, number of skins and the quantity of oil obtained from the older members of the saurian family are sufficient to entitle them to a high place among the products of the State. The hunters sell young "gators" at twenty-five dollars per hundred, and the dealer from seventy-five cents to one dollar each. Live alligators two years old represent to the captor fifty cents each, and to the dealer from two to five dollars, as the season of travel is at its height or far advanced. A ten-foot alligator is worth ten dollars and one fourteen feet long twenty-five dollars to the hunter, while the dealer charges two or three times that price. The eggs are worth to the hunter fifty cents per dozen, and to the dealer twenty-five cents each. The dead aligator is quite as valuable as the live one, for a specimen nine feet long and reasonably fat will net both branches of the trade as follows:

The Hunter.		The Dealer.
Oil	$ 5 50	Oil	$ 9 50
Skin	1 00	Skin	4 00
Head	10 00	Head	25 00
Total	$16 50	Total	$80 50

The value of the head is ascertained by the number and size of the teeth. Dealers mount especially fine specimens of the skull, but the greater number have no other value than that of the ivory they contain.—The Continent.

Walk More, and Sleep Soundly.

MR. JOHN W. COLE, Principal of the Gale School, Troy, N. Y., writes thus:

TROY, N. Y., April 7, 1883.

"Having been afflicted for several years past with illness, the cause of which was unknown to me for a long time, and my continued disability getting to be of so serious and distressing a character as to cause great anxiety with my family and friends, I became satisfied upon close investigation that the cause of my sickness was the diseased condition of my kidneys and liver. At this time by accident a friend who had similar symptoms to mine informed me of the great improvement in his health by taking Hunt's Remedy, and persuaded me to try it. I immediately commenced taking it, and from the first bottle began to improve, and its continued use affords very encouraging results. I can sleep soundly, walk better, am free from pains, and the severe attacks of headache from which I suffered so much have disappeared, and I cheerfully recommend Hunt's Remedy for all purposes for which it is advertised. I will add in closing that my wife has used it very successfully for preventing the attacks of sick headache with which she has been afflicted from youth."

Almost Disheartened.

A prominent citizen sends us the following statement:

"For several years I have been very seriously afflicted with a severe pain in the back, which I long supposed to be lumbago or rheumatism of the back. More recently the pains had become more severe, so much so that it was with difficulty that I was able to get out of bed in the morning. I had tried various remedies without any apparent relief. By the earnest solicitation of a friend I commenced taking Hunt's Remedy about three weeks ago, and its instantaneous benefits are wonderful, for I have had no pains in my back since taking the first three doses; and am relieved from the pains, aches, and exhaustive weakness, the painful symptoms that usually accompany disease of the kidneys. And I confidently expect to be completely and permanently cured by the use of it. I most cheerfully recommend Hunt's Remedy to all who are afflicted with any kidney or liver disease.

WILLIAM G. ARNOLD,
Walnut Street, Providence, R. I.

How Shad Are Caught.

Drawing near to the Gloucester fishing station an hour before high water there is little to betoken the coming scenes of activity and excitement which attend the drawing of the net. The muddy Delaware dashes persistently in the wind against the reach of yellow sand half a mile long that fringes the dull bank. A few ragged loafers or a bevy of boy truants wander about listlessly or dangle their legs from heaps of brown timber. Two or three wooden windlasses with spaces for men and a horse, are set several hundred feet apart from each other, but rough, weather-beaten and out of plumb, one scarcely can tell at first whether they are mementoes of old fisheries or are in present use. A little way further down the shore there are more animated signs of coming events. A meditative horse hitched between the poles of a windlass awaits with drooping ears and sleepy eyes the call to labor. There is a stout band of twenty dusky Africans sleeping on a grassy bank, each with a coil of net-work over his shoulder. A nervous old salt, dry as a cask, a little clock in his hand, is seen constantly entering and emerging from a rough board hut. Within the hut is a little wheel, and a cord doubled around the axle with a float at one end and a weight at the other, records the lifting tide. But not satisfied with this device the bronzed old fisherman watches anxiously a set of pegs which he has set along the marge of one of the still inner pools connecting with the river. The function of this old fellow is an important one, for in hauling a net half a mile long every freak of the tide must be watched, or the two hours' labor of half a hundred men will go for nothing.

A stout rope, perhaps three-quarters of an inch in diameter, circles around a great wheel at the bottom of the windless and trends out into the river. Following with the eye the direction of this rope, vision lights on a strange craft half a mile out in the stream. Manned by eighteen oarsmen, each grasping a big sweep, pointed at the bow and with blunt, high-pooped stern, it looks to rall the world like an old Roman trireme. A heap at the stern rises to the proportions of a respectable railroad embankment. This heap is the net, one of whose ends is joined to the rope mentioned heretofore. A net of such magnitude is a curiosity by itself. It is a seine almost half a mile long, or, in round numbers, twenty-five hundred feet. Its width varies from ten feet at the extremities to fifty in the centre. Its meshes are about two inches square, and in weaving the whole about 115 miles of strong cord are required. The cost of one of these big seines is some $3,000, and its usefulness ends by rot and breakage in three years. The net is buoyed by floats as large as a man's head, but no leads are used, as the weight of the under-run rope suffices for sinking. In the course of a season the breakage of the meshes by snags on the river bottom, and by ordinary wear and tear, is very serious. But the chief marplot of the fisherman is the sturgeon. One of these armored fishes, with his sharp adamantine nose, passes through a seine like an arrow through air, and he leaves, every time he passes, a jagged rent half-a-dozen feet in diameter.

But now the tide has reached its flood. The old watcher on shore seizes a dirty white flag and waves it frantically to the distant boatmen. The negro hands wake stupidly from slumber and, rubing their eyes, take their places at the poles of the windlass. The sleepy horse, too, is roused to animation by a lusty thump on the vertebral column, and under a stress of man and horse-power the great wheel begins to revolve and the long rope to tighten. The distant trireme also has been roused into life, the anchor weighed, and eighteen pair of biceps are pulling the craft up-stream, the Tribune newspaper. Last summer there were more than fifteen hundred generous persons, many of them children themselves, who gave money for this purpose, the contributions amounting to $21,556.91. With this sum, 5,599 of the poor children of New York were taken into the country, given a holiday of two weeks, and carried back to their tenement homes. While their traveling expenses were paid by the contributors to the Fund, the children were the invited guests of farmers and other hospitable people living in the country. During the spring, seventy-five public meetings were held in as many villages in New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Vermont, and other States, and arrangements were made with committees and clergymen in as many other localities; and when the kind-hearted entertainers in the country were ready to receive them, the children were sent out from the city in large companies, and distributed among the villages.

The manager of the Fresh-Air Fund is Willard Parsons, a bachelor clergyman, who has adopted the poor children of New York for his own. Hale and hearty, with a ruddy face and an eye twinkling with good humor, he has a heart brimful of kindness for neglected children, and the energy of twenty men. He it was who devised this simple and effective plan of entertaining in the country the poorest of poor children living in New York and Brooklyn. The experiment was tried six years ago, when he had a country parish in Pennsylvania, and now he is making this the business of his life. The first year, sixty children were taken into the country. Last year, 6,000 children had an outing in green fields and pastures new. It is a charity as popular as it is beautiful, for every heart is touched by the sorrows of neglected childhood.—I. N. Ford, in St. Nicholas.

HOPE FOR THE BALD

It has always been supposed that after the head became glazed and shiny it was hopeless to expect any hair. The following cut showing the growth of the hair, will illustrate better than words the fallacy of the old idea. This cut is a microscopic view of the follicle and papilla, from which the hair grows:

It will be readily seen that though the hair is gone from the surface it is still alive healthy beneath the scalp, and is only prevented from growing by the contraction of the follicle in which it should grow.

How The Hair Grows on the Bald Head!

We apply friction to bring the blood to the surface and supply the scalp with a perfect hair-food to nourish the weak roots. We do not profess to grow hair on every head. Some from the use of alcoholic and poisonous preparations have destroyed the follicle. These cases are hopeless, but so rare that no one one should be discouraged from using one bottle of

as this will demonstrate whether the follicle and roots are alive, and will also STRENGTHEN the remaining hair, stop its FALLING OUT, and cure DANDRUFF and ITCHING

I HAVE USED BENTON'S HAIR GROWER!

John B. Taylor, (one of the heirs to the immese Taylor estate), of Newport, Ky., says of the Benton Hair Grower: "I have used it and find it all that is claimed for it: I like it very much, it has grown hair on my head to some extent."

BENTON HAIR GROWER CO. Dear Sirs:—About a year ago one-half of my head was bald and shiny, and as bare as the palm of my hand. I was told by physicians that it would be impossible for hair to grow on my head, as I had suffered so much from neuralgia. I am over sixty years of age, and began to use your Hair Grower less than a year ago. I have now as good a head of hair as I ever had in youth. It is now from five to six inches in length and in such a luxuriant condition that no one would think I had ever been bald.
Mrs. C. M. WILD, 118 Clinton St., Cleveland, O.

PARTIAL BALDNESS!

Baldness generally commences on the crown of the head, sometimes on the front of the head. In either case it is usually the result of fevers. If BENTON'S HAIR GROWER is used at once, the falling hair will stop and new hair will start.

Interesting reading about the hair sent on application with thousands of testimonials.
For the use of LADIES who are troubled with Dandruff, Gray Hair, Falling Hair or Itching of the Scalp, it is invaluable.

His Soul and His Silver.

"Your asking me how I came to use it, reminds me of the story of the Scotchman who, on his deathbed, after a life of meanness, wanted to make things all right with the Lord by leaving some money to kirk."

"Will the Almighty pass me into heaven if I give 10,000 pounds to the kirk, d'ye think, said he?"

"'I can't promise ye that, mon,' answered the minister, 'but I advise ye to try the experiment.'"

"That's what I did with PARKER'S TONIC; I tried the experiment. It more than met my expectations, and I am very glad to testify to its excellence. It goes at once to the root of all digestive and nervous derangements so common among men of my profession. For women and chronic invalids the Tonic is a perfect invigorant and is designed to supplant all other remedies for this purpose. A single dose produces the gentle perspiration and sense of life, which eradicates disease. It seems to rouse every organ into activity. I admire it, too, for its power to antagonize the hold of the liquor habit over inebriates."

This preparation which has been known as PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, will hereafter be called PARKER'S TONIC. As unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers with inferior articles under the name of ginger, and as ginger is really an unimportant flavoring ingredient, we drop the misleading word.

There will be no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles in the hands of dealers wrapped under the name of PARKER'S GINGER TONIC contain the genuine medicine if the fac-simile signature of HISCOX & Co. is at the bottom of the outside wrapper.

Briefiets.

—Ninety-two licensed canines in the city at two o'clock this afternoon.

—Messrs. Gookins & Co., jewelers, have received a burglar proof safe, which none of the night thieves can enter.

—The Y. M. C. A. will hold a service of song at their rooms, opposite the Rock county national bank, to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

—Captain W. T. Vankirk received a car load of Georgia watermelons this morning, some of which are as nice as any ever seen in this market.

—Mrs. J. P. Stanson, who was thought to be dying of typhoid fever at Alburquerque, New Mexico, is recovering. Mr. W. H. Graves received a telegram to this effect this morning.

—The Court Street Methodist church will be closed during the month of August. The usual prayer meeting will be held every Thursday evening, beginning at eight o'clock.

—C. H. Brown has sold out his photograph gallery to C. E. Wilkins, of Janesville, who takes possession August 1st. Mr. Brown is a fair and square business man and was working up a good business here.—Delavan Republican.

—The non-commissioned officers of the Beloit City Guards met last night and talked over matters pertaining to the company's interests. The prospects are that the company will be well represented at the encampment.—Beloit Free Press.

—Chief Engineer Croft sent a letter yesterday to the chief engineer of the fire department of Battle Creek, Michigan, enquiring about their drive wells; how they are constructed, etc., and expects a reply in a few days, when the well at the Catholic church will be commenced.

—A couple of tony young men from Edgerton were on a wild hurrah last evening, having everything pretty much their own way until they collided with Marshal Hogan, when they were safely housed in the Rock county jail. It being their first offense of this kind in this city, we withhold their names.

—Rev. Dr. C. L. Thompson, of Kansas City, Missouri, formerly pastor of our Presbyterian church, is in the city, the guest of J. D. Rexford, Esq., of the first ward. Rev. Mr. Thompson will occupy the pulpit in the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning, and in the evening he will preach in the Baptist church.

—There was a house warming last evening, on the farm of Mr. William Spaulding, in the town of Milton, the new house being occupied by Mr. Averill King. About thirty couple were present, some of whom were from this city. A band from Emerald Grove furdished the music, and the house was duly dedicated and all had a jolly time.

—The Beloit anti-horse thief association met Tuesday evening at the store of H. Pentland. Thirty-five new members were admitted, and efficient measures adopted for further protection of its members, and prompt aid to any who may have horses stolen from them in the future. The society now numbers 250, and was never in better condition than at present.—Beloit Outlook.

Personal.

—Mayor D. S. Rose and wife, of Darlington, are in the city to-day.

—Mrs. A. W. Baldwin is in Milwaukee, visiting her sister, Mrs. T. W. Williams.

—Mrs. J. V. Jones, of Oshkosh is visiting in the city, the guest of Mrs. Silas Hayner.

—Mr. Will F. Hollister, of Darlington, was in the city to-day, enroute for Milwaukee.

—Mrs. W. C. Kent and sons, of Chicago, formerly of this city, are in town visiting friends.

—Dr. J. H. Vivian, of Mineral Point, member of the state board of charities, was in the city this afternoon.

—Miss Grace Clark, of Lockport, New York, is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George M. McKey.

—Mr. O. G. Gibbs and family, of Chicago, are in the city, visiting relatives and friends, guests of Major S. C. Cobb and family.

—Rev. C. E. Goldthorp goes to Shopiere to-morrow to hold quarterly meeting but will return to occupy his own pulpit in the evening.

—Rev. Dr. Spaulding and two daughters, of Jersey City, are in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lappin, of the third ward.

—Alderman E. D. Murdock returned home from his eastern trip last evening, feeling well, and is pleased with his six week visit to the scenes of his early boyhood.

—Mr. Frank D. Kimball, who has been inhaling the cool atmosphere of the Lake Superior coast for the past week, returned home this noon, looking as cheerful and good natured as ever.

—The Rev. D. F. Davies, pastor of the Congregational church will start for Ohio next Monday, where he will visit during the month of August. While he is absent the church will be closed.

—Captain Edward Ruger will, on Monday next, start for New York and other points in that state, and expects to be absent until September. He will visit Massachusetts before his return.

—Secretary W. T. Van Kirk is making arrangements for any amount of special features at the coming Rock county fair. He is now making arrangements for a race between hose, and hook and ladder companies, which if successful, will make a splendid attraction for the fair. With the proper arrangements completed, a number of hose and hook and ladder companies would visit the city on that occasion and make an interesting race, and add much to the amusement for visitors to the fair.

—Mr. N. C. Baker, of the Wisconsin shoe company, has returned home from Danville, P. Q., where he has been the past two weeks. It will be remembered that Mr. Baker was called home by telegraph, on account of the dangerous illness of his parents, who reside at Danville. Mr. Baker arived home on the 13th of July, the day after his father, Mr. Silas Baker, died. Mrs. Baker, who was suffering from a serious attack of heart disease, had recovered, or regained her usual health when her son left for his home in this city.

Almost a Fire.

Last evening between eight and nine o'clock, Master Harry Maguire, had filled the fluid lamp used to light cigars in the drug store of Messrs. Stearns & Baker, on West Milwaukee street, after which he lighted it; some of the fluid had spilled on the outside of the lamp, which also ignited, burning the boy's hand so that he was compelled to drop the lamp to the floor; in doing this the tube was broken off and the fluid flowed freely from the lamp, taking fire as it ran out. The accident happened near the front door. Mr. Stearns saw the accident and the large flame, which illuminated the street in front. He cried "fire," and went to work like an old veteran and succeeded in smothering the flames, but not until some few papers were ignited. But for the cool judgment of Mr. Stearns, a disastrous fire might have resulted.

Mr. Stearns always fills this lamp himself in the morning, and it contains sufficient fluid to last until the next day, but the boy, who is not yet thoroughly "broke in," was not aware of this fact, and undertook to refill the lamp when it was not required,—hence the little accident.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds, and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Sterns & Baker.

Accepted.

At a meeting of the members of W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., held last evening, the Post accepted the invitation extended by the Bower City Rifles, published in the Gazette on Thursday, and have sent the Rifles the following reply:

HEADQUARTERS W.H. SARGENT POST No. 20,
DEPARTMENT OF WISCONSIN, G. A. R.,
JANESVILLE, WIS., July 27, 1883.

J. B. La Grange, Commander Bower City Rifles, City:

CAPTAIN—Your highly esteemed favor of the 24th inst., inviting this Post to accept the hospitalities of your command in this city, August 11th and 12th, is hereby acknowledged.

I take pleasure to inform you that the Post, in regular session this evening, accepted your kind invitation with thanks by a unanimous vote, and will attend in a body on the occasion.

I have the honor to remain with the highest consideration and respect.

Official: S. C. COBB,
E. G. HARLOW, Post Com.
Adjutant and A. D. C.

A Clergyman's Testimony.

W. E. Gifford, pastor M. E. church Bothwell, Ont., was for two years a sufferer with dyspepsia in its worst form, until as he states "life became an actual burden." Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he tells us in a recent letter that he considers it the best family medicine now before the country for dyspepsia and liver complaint.
Sold by Palmer & Stevens and Sherer & Co.

The Park Concert.

The open air concert in the court house park this evening, by the Bower City band, will be worth listening to. The following excellent programme has been selected:

3—Serenade.....Spring Violets
4—Andante and Waltz.....Hippodrome
5—Quadrille.....Conmers
6—Schottische.....Dancing in the Barn
7—Overture.....Gaiety
8—Gallop.....Inauguration

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any drug store as is now at F. Sherer & Co.'s for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. All persons affected with Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs or any affection of the Throat and lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at the above drug store. Regular size $1.

The Weather.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 59 degrees above zero. Clear, with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 74 degrees above. Partly cloudy with westerly wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 65 and 80 degrees above zero.

WASHINGTON, July 28, 1 a. m.—The following are the indications for to-day:

Upper lake region—Fair weather, north to west winds, rising barometer, stationary or lower temperature.

Our readers will find all the medicines advertised in this paper at Prentice & Evenson's drug store, opposite the postoffice. They keep all the principal patent medicines in the market, and undoubtedly have the largest stock in the city.

Janesville Campers at Lakeside.

The followine Janesville people are in camp at Lakeside (Madison) and will remain over Sunday:

Capt. and Mrs. H. A. Smith, son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thor. Judd, Misses Carrie and Gertie Zeinninger, Mr. Samuel Gowdey, Miss Lizzie Richardson, Mr. J. C. Echlin and family, W. G. Wheelock wife and son, Misses Clara Drake, Lizzie and Maggie Paterson, Mrs. J. A. Cunningham, son and daughter, Beatrice Gilmore, J. H. Warren and daughters, Mrs. Williston and daughter, B. F. Dunwiddie and wife, Miss Minnie Dewey, Mr. Frank Stevens and family, and Rev. A. J. Mead. The Janesville delegation are the jolliest people on the grounds.

We All Believe

That it is a long lane that has no turning; that many a shaft at random sent, finds a mark the archer little meant; that no remedy sold will cure coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and all throat and lung troubles so quickly nor permanently as Dr. Bigelow's Positive cure; that our druggists, Stearns & Baker are very generous to give trial bottles of the remedy free of charge.

Emancipation Day.

August 1st, the day commemorating the emancipation of slaves in Hayti, will be properly observed by the colored people of Beloit and vicinity, together with invited guests from many surrounding towns, with the following programme:

The procession will form on Broad street, near Hanchett's block, as follows: First, a wagon properly trimmed, on which will be a pedestal surmounted with a bust of Abraham Lincoln, next a wagon, on which will be represented the Goddess of Liberty surrounded by thirteen young ladies dressed in white, following will be decorated carriages containing invited guests and citizens, preceded by the Beloit Brass band, the line of march starting promptly at 1:30 p. m. will be up Broad street to Park avenue, thence to School, down School to State street, down State to Clark's grove, where an address will be delivered by a speaker provided for this occasion, after which a basket picnic will complete the exercises of the day.

In the evening a prize concert consisting of vocal and instrumental music, solos, duetts, trios and quartettes will take place in the opera house between the Auber quartette, of Rockford, and the Memnon quartette, of Beloit, a prize to the best singers will be awarded by the judges on this occasion, three in number, H. D. Clement, of this city, one from Rockford, and one at large, not yet chosen. The concert promises to be very fine. Reserved seat tickets are on sale at Howard's jewelry store.—Beloit Outlook.

The Coming Entertainments

Rev. Dr. Thomas, of St. Paul, was knocked down on Ninth street, by footpads, who nearly strangled him before rifling his pockets, and then kicked him until he was thought to be disabled from pursuit. Two men have been arrested on suspicion.

Hon. Montgomery Blair died at Silver Springs, Maryland, aged 70 years. He graduated at West Point, but soon resigned to practice law in St. Louis, where he rose to a judgeship. He removed to Maryland in 1872, and was postmaster general under President Lincoln.

THE GRAND ARMY.

Closing Meeting of the Denver Encampment---Election of Officers---The Next Meeting.

DENVER, Col., July 28.—The seventeenth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic held its closing session. The following business was transacted: Selection of Minneapolis as the place for holding the next national encampment; the election of E. K. Warren, of Kansas City, senior vice commander; W. H. Holmes, of California, junior vice commander; Azel Ames, of Massachusetts, surgeon general, and I. N. Foster chaplain-in-chief. The different departments selected the following council of administration:

Arkansas, E. A Nickles; California, J. C. Tucker; Colorado, Byron L. Carr, of Longmont; Connecticut, W. F. Pierrepont, of New Haven; Delaware, William H. Burnett; Illinois, Smith D. Atkins; Indiana, R. S. Robertson, Fort Wayne; Iowa, Henry Frey; Kansas, John A. Martin; Kentucky, T. Elwood; Maine, Charles A. Coombs; Maryland, George B. Cramer; Massachusetts, H. B. Pierce; Michigan, W. H. Miller; Minnesota, William Thomas; Missouri, J. S. Sterrett; Nebraska, J. H. Cellever; New Hampshire, W. H. D. Cochran; New Jersey, Alexander W. Way; New Mexico, T. W. Collins, of Raton; New York, A. H. Shierre; Ohio, Carl M. Bancroft; Pennsylvania, Samuel Harter, of Pittsburg; Potomac, Gilbert M. Hasted; Rhode Island, Thomas W. Worchester; Vermont, Warren Gibbs; Virginia, C. W. Burr; Wisconsin, James Davidson.

After the officers selected were installed Commander-in-chief Heath announced the following staff: Adjutant general, M. Vanderstic, of Philadelphia; quartermaster general, John Taylor, of Philadelphia; inspector general, C. A. Santmyer, of Carthage, O.; judge advocate general, Wm. Vanderver, of Iowa.

Resolutions were adopted favorable to the organization of the ladies's relief corps, and speeches were made by each of the officers-elect and by Gen. John A. Logan, Corp. Tanner, Mrs. Basker, of Massachusetts, and others. The speech of Gen. Logan was loudly cheered by the audience. The new commander-in-chief made a good impression, and it is believed he will make a good officer. The encampment adjourned at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The delegates begin a series of excursions planned for them.

Pick Your Hardware

FOR

SPRING AND SUMMER USE.

We will not attempt to enumerate what we have, nor to describe our stock further than to say that it consists of the best obtainable, in every department. We keep everything that is usually found in a first-class Hardware and Stove Store, and a few things besides, and have taken especial pains this spring to have everything up to the standard. In articles of different makes, such as

Stoves,
Ranges,
Household Implements and labor saving devices.
Axes,
Tools,
Farm Machinery,
Etc., Etc.

We have either arranged to give the purchaser his choice of all the varieties, or we have selected after careful comparison, what we consider to be the best. Everything in our stock has been chosen with particular reference to the want of this community and the surrounding country, and we want every purchaser to feel assured that in buying of us he is getting the greatest obtainable value for his money. Speaking of money brings us to the question of prices, and right here we must be pardoned if we do a little bragging. We do not claim to be smarter than the generality of men in a horse trade or sharper in a dog dicker, but when it comes to buying a stock of Hardware stores we know just what we are about. We have been enabled by our experience and certain advantages we possess now the least of which is buying for SPOT CASH, to lay in our new spring stock of seasonable goods at figures which would astonish our competitors if they knew them, and will allow us to offer our patrons a benefit in the way of ROCK BOTTOM PRICES for TOP TOP GOODS, that we are sure will be appreciated.
